

22 Too Many

According to a survey by the Veterans Administration, more than 8,000 U.S. military veterans are committing suicide annually. That means that an average of 22 veterans are taking their own lives each and every day.

We cannot allow our nation's veterans to die by their own hands because they can't get the help they need to cope with the pressures of returning to civilian life. Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder, Depression, Mental Illness and a long list of issues can take anyone down the wrong path.

Rolling Thunder® New Jersey Chapter 2 is dedicated to finding a way to helping our nation's heroes by funding programs focused on assisting veterans who are at risk with suicidal tendencies. The purchase of a patch helps you demonstrate your support for veterans while also helping us get veterans the help they need.
